THE MESSRS. LEAVITT, Auctioneers.

Parties who cannot attend this Sale, can have their orders to purchase faithfully executed by the Auctioneers.

NEW YORK, 1874.

CONDITIONS OF SALE.

1. The highest Bidder to be the Buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more Bidders, the Lot so in dispute shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

2. The Purchasers to give their names and addresses, and to pay down twenty-five per cent on the dollar in part payment, or the whole of the Purchase-money if required, in default of which the Lot or Lots so purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.

3. The Lots to be taken away and paid for, with all faults and errors of description, at the Buyer's expense and risk within three days from the Sale.

4. To prevent inaccuracy in delivery and inconvenience in the settlement of the Purchases, no Lot can, on any account, be removed during the sale; and the remainder of the Purchase-money must absolutely be paid on the delivery.

5. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money deposited in part payment shall be forfeited; all Lots uncleared within the time aforesaid shall be re-sold by public or private Sale, and the deficiency, (if any,) attending such re-sale, shall be made good by the Defaulter at this Sale.

Thackeray traced the frivolities of society with an iron pen; he leans almost as heavily upon them as he does upon vices that are the growth of luxury and that false position into which people labor to thrust themselves, under the idea that because they are with a set they are of a set. He had been considered a humorist: "Barry Lyndon" stamped him with the higher character of a satirist, but a satirist in the loftier meaning of the term. He had the power, and used it well, of serving his generation—lashing the vice through the vicious—by an example: we remember an epigram when we forget a sermon.
